

NZILA Online Webinar

At a time where social gatherings are being limited, Vidcom can help bring your events online. No matter the event size, Vidcom can easily bring your ideas and information to your audience while being at any location.

About the Client:

The New Zealand Insurance Law Association is a non for profit organisation that promotes interest in, and understanding of laws relating to insurance. Through delivering educational and networking opportunities, its members exchange of ideas and information around insurance law.

About the Event:

The NZILA held an online webinar focusing on insurance law issues and employment challenges caused by COVID-19. The event had three presenting speakers and a moderator from the association. Vidcom livestreamed the event while none of the presenters nor attendees were in the same space to follow social distancing guidelines.

Client Feedback:

“ Vidcom provided us with the technical knowhow and all the platforms and software needed to deliver a webinar for our client during lockdown. The service was fantastic - the live webinar and recorded end product was professional and very easy to use. Our clients were impressed with the ease of use for both the livestreaming for our audience and the recording and support from the presenters. We were able to deliver this online event with a very short lead time and nothing was a problem for the Vidcom team. We will be delivering more sessions in the coming weeks and have no hesitation to recommend Vidcom ”
